It is difficult to predict what will be done on this matter of the tariff, but it is manifest that the committee may impressed with the justice of our case, and particularly with the point made that the time has come, in framing a tariff policy, to give to the products of the farm the same protection that is given to the products of the factory.

Our congressional delegation has been working with fine co-operation on this attor. The finance committee has extended us every courtest, and with the aid of the charts as ably prepared by the chamber of teey, and with the aid of the charts so ably prepared by the chamber of commerce, and the map and samples tarnished me by the departent of agriculture, we were able to at least convince the comittee of the vital importance of an industry which produces such a supertative quality of cotton. Many of the senators were manifestly impressed with the samples of Pima cotton and Pima cloths which we were able to distribute to them at the hearing."

There has been considerable speculation at the San Marcos as to just who it was that was responsible for the fine rain we had on Thursday, a number of the old inhabitants trying to get sway with the glory. It was the walls to the walls to to get sway with the giory. It was finally decided to give the credit to Guide Bill Huggett, who, in his anx-lety to have the dust laid on out-of-the-valley roads and the desert put into good condition for winter flowers, had been making big-rain medi-
